

CORPORATE RESTRUCTURING AND BANKRUPTCY PRACTICE

Our corporate restructuring and bankruptcy practice provides strategic communications counsel and support through all stages of the corporate restructuring process. Working with management and external legal and financial advisors, we develop and implement effective communications programs that help stabilize companies during uncertain times.

In a variety of major assignments—for airlines, retailers, manufacturers, telecommunications companies and many others—our team of communications professionals has helped companies in financial distress minimize disruptions to their businesses by ensuring that customers have the confidence to order, suppliers the confidence to ship and employees the motivation to continue to work productively.

Properly conceived and executed communications plans can help maximize the window of time within which management and its advisors can successfully address the issues fundamental to sustained recovery.
